He says there are complaints that he is [illegible] for his department rapidly; but he [illegible] the duty of the Government in such a crisis as the present is to give all the aid it can to the [illegible] interests of the country. The disposition of employers in the east, so far as their feelings and purposes can be judged by reports received here, is to reduce the number of hours work, and not to discharge or furlough their employes. At least a dozen prominent firms in New York City alone, have made known their intention to prevent the discharge of men and women employed by them, but rather to reduce the work, each, a few hours per week during the winter months, or while hard times continue.

LETTER FROM "NORTHWEST."

[FROM OUR TRAVELING CORRESPONDENT.]

ROSEBURG, Nov. 3, 1873.

This is one of the most delightful fall seasons ever experienced in Southern Oregon. The mornings are more or less frosty, but after the sun makes his appearance the atmosphere is as warm and comfortable as the month of May or June. The nights are cool and sleep is refreshing. Stockmen are complaining for want of rain to give the grass a favorable start. The dry weather retards plowing, but the present state of freight charges at Roseburg make the farmers quite indifferent whether they plow or not. Sheep, and not wheat, is the order of the day in Douglas county at present, and therefore the anxiety of sheep farmers about rain and grass.

WHAT I KNOW ABOUT COLE'S VALLEY.

This valley takes its name from Dr. Cole, one of the first settlers. He is still living, and is a successful stock-raiser in the foot hills and mountain slopes. Among the many beautiful valleys of Douglas county, Cole's valley may be fairly considered the garden valley of the county for beauty and fertility. The fields are laid out with great taste, and well fenced, the soil is rich and productive, the farm and office houses are comfortable and convenient, the farmers are very intelligent, and thoroughly independant in finances and principles, and their families are well educated and refined. The valley is surrounded with a part of the Coast Range Mountains and spurs that run out from them, and gently sloping foot-hills that afford ample supplies of lumber and fine grazing for stock. It is thickly settled, the soil very rich and the cultivations in such an advanced stage that forty bushels of wheat to the acre can easily be obtained, and oats and barley in proportion. These farms would sell for $30 an acre, and will, probably, ten years hence bring $100 an acre.

The valley has the advantage of a first class public school under the care of Mr. C. A. Ferguson, a teacher worthy of his position and well merits the legitimate influence he has in the community. There are in this valley four blacksmith shops, two wagon shops, one carpenter's shop, two stores, an excellent saw and planing mill and an equally good flour mill, all in successful operation. The Good Templars have an extensive organization, composed of the most influential men and women and young people of the valley.

WHAT I KNOW ABOUT A BOGUS LEGISLATURE.

The superior intelligence of the farmers of Cole's Valley is seen in the fact that they hold a Bogus Legislature in the school house every Saturday evening from November to April, conducted with all the forms and order of a regular parliament. In this Legislature, the leading questions of the day are brought before the House in the form of bills, discussed with earnestness and dignity, and finally voted on by adopting or rejecting the bill; it is then signed or vetoed by the Governor. Bills rejected by the Governor are sometimes passed over his veto. The Hon. L. F. Lane, of Roseburg, has been elected United States Senator by this Bogus Legislature; he has accepted the appointment and has promised to address the House on the political issues of the day. In his reply to the Legislature, accepting the appointment, he told them that he considered it a greater honor to be the member of a Bogus Senate than to be a bogus member of a real Senate. The sessions of this Legislature are crowded by the people of the valley and district; are a source of great intellectual enjoyment, of social and mental culture, independent thought and action, and an excellent training school for public life. The Hon. John Emmett is Governor; W. B. Clarke is Speaker of the House; E. A. Ferguson is Secretary of State, and Dr. Foley is Treasurer.

WHAT WE KNOW ABOUT THE TRICKS OF POLITICIANS AND SOMETHING WORTH INQUIRING ABOUT.

On Saturday, October 11th, not a copy of your WEEKLY OREGONIAN for Cole's Valley, came to the local postoffice or to the central office at Roseburg. This was the more remarkable as such a circumstance had not occurred for a long time, nor since that date. The mail that should have brought the OREGONIAN had a large number of copies of the campaign Bulletin and New Northwest, they were distributed extensively free of charge, by means of the postoffice, through the valley and over the district. The question comes up, did you mail the WEEKLY OREGONIAN of the 10th October in the usual manner, and time so as to arrive in Roseburg in time to reach Cole's Valley on the following day? Or did the trading and tricky politicians of your city prevail with the postal authorities in Portland to keep back the OREGONIAN until after the election on the 13th of October, so as to give the politicians of Portland the advantage of having the last say in Cole's Valley on the political issues of the campaign? If the latter was the object, the politicians gained a loss by the transaction.

Some of the intelligent men of the district anticipated the probability of such conduct, warned the voters to be on the look-out. The endorsing resolution of the Republican Convention would have defeated the ticket in Cole's Valley, but the discovery in time, of the political trick produced such indignation as to cause its disaster. For at the State election in June last, the Republican vote in Cole's Valley district was 55, but at the late election Mr. Smith only polled six votes from the same party! Honesty is the best policy for politicians as well as for all others. When the leaders of the Republican party in Oregon can afford to act honestly and honorably and nominate competent and reliable men, they may expect to win; but no party deserves to get the controlling power in State Legislatures or the national councils which acts otherwise.

The men who sell their suffrage at the ballot box, in the Legislature, in Congress, or in any responsible position, part with their political birthright for a mess of pottage, and are, so far, traitors to their country, but even they are angels of light when compared with the cunning, crafty politicians who corrupt them, and thereby poison political life at its fountain. What the country wants and is now demanding with a concentrating force that will soon be irresistible, is the emancipation of the political interests of the nation from the control of all corrupt parties by putting into office good and great men. When this the greatest necessity and most vital political object of the age, is accomplished, the United States will be the most important and influential nation on the globe. As it is at present, the majority of American politicians are a reproach and a byword among the nations of the world.

WHAT INDUSTRY, SKILL AND INTEGRITY CAN ACCOMPLISH.

Among the number of successful men in Cole's valley, Mr. W. B. Clarke may be taken as a fair sample. Less than seven years since he came to this valley with not more than three dollars in his possession. By patient and persevering industry, good habits, integrity of character and business capacity, he has built up a comfortable and happy home, erected a model saw and planing mill, purchased a large quantity of land, and established a credit equal to all his requirements or any enterprise he may undertake.

THE CALLOOPIA VALLEY.

This valley joins and is in many respects, similar to Cole's valley, in beauty, scenery and fertility. It extends for thirteen miles, and reaches to near the town of Oakland. It is well watered by the Calpooia river. On this this river Mr. E. Stephenson has built and owns the Rochester flouring mill. He has one of the finest and safest water powers, for the extent of it, in the country, and an ample supply of water all the year. The machinery is the best, the mill is kept in excellent order, and is paying a large annual per centage of profit.

ROSEBURG.

Being the present terminus of the Oregon and California Railroad, has great advantages over some other towns on the line. Yet in new buildings, either in stores or private residences, the town has not advanced much during the last nine months. The town, however, is decidedly prosperous. Such men as Flood & Co., Marks & Co. and S. W. Crane are a credit to the place for enterprise, business habits, tried integrity and ample capital. Mr. Morgan has got a satisfactory and honorable settlement with his creditors, and will carry on business as formerly. The other business interests of the place are in a prosperous condition. A large portion of the people are well educated and refined, who will bear comparison with any other town in the Umpqua valley.

OAKLAND

Is one of the most cheerful and successful of the new towns on the line of the Railroad, and is most likely to keep that position. It seems marvelous how a town could grow to such large proportions in less than two years. Abraham Brothers are the leading merchants and were the occasion of giving the first successful impulse to its growth and prosperity. They are energetic, enterprising and very successful merchants. Messrs. Crane & Pike are building a fine brick store that will be an ornament to the town and give a fresh start to that class of desirable buildings. It will cost about $5,000 and will be occupied this month. Mr. J. B. Smith has a large and elegant hardware and tin store, that adds much to the fine appearance of the town and has all the indications of being a successful establishment. Mr. R. Thomas has a very fine hotel and one of the most comfortable restaurants at the railroad station on the whole line of the road. The Masons' and Odd Fellow's Halls are large, convenient, and elegantly finished and furnished. There are more samples of what could be said about the towns institutions and people of Douglas County.

JAMES O'MEARA, ESQ., AND THE PORTLAND BULLETIN.

I notice in the Bulletin that Mr. O'Meara gives me a prominent place in one of his editorials of Saturday, occasioned by my letter from Roseburg in your journal of Thursday. Had he condescended to discuss by facts and arguments any of the statements I made in that letter, I could have sustained what I have said by evidences that could not be gainsayed. Instead of doing so, he has resorted to the ready and convenient weapons of ridicule, abusive and insulting language with which he is so familiar, and in the use of which he has such extensive experience.

Mr. O'Meara has hitherto treated me with politeness personally and spoke favorably of me in the columns of the Bulletin. Now he resorts to vulgar abuse and insulting language, which, indirectly, vindicates the truth of my statements and the correctness of my conclusions; for it is the first resort and the last retreat of those in charge of a bad cause to use such weapons. Under such circumstances, to be vilified and insulted is, unintentionally, the highest compliment that can be paid to a writer. When called upon in a proper manner, I expect to be able to vindicate what I have said and to justify my conduct and motives; but the position of personal friendship that has hitherto existed between Mr. O'Meara and myself is now abandoned, and that forever. This is my simple way of treating all such conduct, so that he has now a clear stage to heap any amount of abuse on me that he pleases, all of which will be taken as complimentary by your NORTHWEST.

THE LAFAYETTE STATUE.—Mr. Constant Mayer, the well-known portrait and figure painter of New York, who has been spending the summer in the neighborhood of Paris, in a private letter under date of September 3, gives the following interesting facts in relation to the statue of General Lafayette, which the French government intends to present to the city of New York in remembrance of the kind feelings of its people during the late war:

"General Lafayette is represented as a very young man—in his twentieth year, I believe. The general stands on the prow of a ship, as if in the act of landing. One hand is on his breast, and in the other hand he holds his sword. The design is very impressive and was suggested to the sculptor in the passage taken from Lafayette's memoirs, which reads as follows: "As soon as I knew the declaration of the American independence my heart flew there." I saw the statue under great disadvantage, because it was on too high a stand, and a certain stiffness observable, especially in one of the legs, will disappear, probably, when it is in a better position. It will be a great addition to the collection of bronzes in our Central Park, at all events. The sculptor is Mr. Frederick Bartholdi, whose family is one of the best of Colmar in Alsace. Besides being an artist of great ability and reputation he is also a very learned man. He traveled in the United States some two years ago, and, strange to say, I do not remember having seen it mentioned.

New York papers of recent date contain accounts of the recent trial of speed between canal boats competing for the prize of $100,000, which was offered by the Legislature of New York three years ago. In the trial of 1872, no award was made on account of the faulty construction and imperfect sailing of the boats. In the trial of Oct. 20th, the Baxter, propelled by steam, went from Syracuse to Utica at the rate of a little over three miles an hour, and her voyage is considered by canal men a final argument in favor of the use of steam in the canal carrying trade. The speed was not remarkable, but it is considered that the want of a steam canal boat which shall not create a wash that will destroy the banks, has been supplied in the Baxter. Even with this rate of speed the present capacity of the Erie canal would be nearly doubled. The use of steam will bring about an important reduction in freight rates. All things considered, our New York exchanges seem to think that the introduction of the new method will definitely settle the alarming question of Montreal's supremacy in the grain trade.

The affairs of the St. Louis Mutual Life Insurance Company are in a sad fix. For several months the directors have been trying to ascertain whether or not the institution is solvent. Three insurance experts who were summoned from other States report that the total assets amount to $5,948,898, and the total liabilities and reserves $6,360,279. Excess of liabilities over assets, $412,289. There is, however, an excess of assets over liabilities and reserves of $715,75[illegible]. So say the officers of the Company. It is claimed by the directors that the Company is perfectly solvent. An address taking this ground has been issued, and will be sent to all policy-holders.

We call attention to the interesting and valuable statistics of the assessed value of the property of corporations in the State of Oregon, contained in the letter of our regular correspondent at Salem. The tables which we are publishing from time to time will be found to be instructive and highly valuable for reference.

We wish we knew the name of the Mayor of Portland Maine. It ought to be loaded with amaranths because when Col. Blood telegraphed to that city to engage a hall for Victoria Woodhull's lecture, the spirited and sensible Mayor promptly sent back word "We don't want that kind."

Miss Louise Alcott's mother, who is old enough to know better, says: "I am 73, but mean to go to the polls before I die, even if my three daughters have to carry me."

From all the surrounding country the Statesman hears reports that the farmers have sown a wide breadth of fall wheat and are still at it. The "early rains" which fell at Fair time, were really a godsend to the country, though they did make a good many people cross, and a few rheumatic.

A writer in the La Grande Sentinel complains because at the late Union County Fair the Superintendents got away with nearly all the premiums, and says: "This arrangement is wrong, is demoralizing, and if persisted in will very soon send the Fair 'where the woodbine twineth.'"

The Astoria, Nehalem valley and Washington county wagon road, is now located, and as soon as the plats are filed with the State Department, and Clerks of Clatsop, Columbia and Washington counties, the route becomes a "county road," and is liable to be worked as other county roads.

Mr. Daniel Clark, Master of the State Grange, gives notice in his official card appointing deputies, that where sections exist in Oregon and Washington where no appointment of deputy to organize granges has been made, this want will be immediately remedied on application being made to him, as he will either attend in person or send a qualified deputy.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY LEGISLATURE.

Fourth Biennial Session.

[From our Special Correspondent.]

OLYMPIA, W. T., Nov. 3, 1873.

House opened at the usual hour.

The Speaker (Mr. Caton) rose to a question of privilege in regard to a statement contained in the OREGONIAN of the 1st instant, from your correspondent, relating to the exhibition lately given here by the deaf mutes, in which it was made to appear that an invitation had been extended by Mr. Caton to Mr. Knight to visit this town during the present session of the Legislature, which the Speaker states is not true, and introduced a letter received from Mr. Knight on the subject, prior to the visit of that gentleman.

With regard to this matter I can only state that I think Mr. Knight considered Mr. Caton's letter to him as an invitation to visit this place, as I know he felt considerable disappointment at not meeting him on his arrival here, which happened to be the day that the Legislature took a recess; but, at the same time, from the letter read to-day, it was evident that it was the intention of the reverend gentleman to exhibit his pupils even prior to communicating with Mr. Caton. It was the design of your correspondent merely to show that the presiding officer of the house was unfortunately prevented from being present at a most important time, as far as this measure was concerned; but it was most certainly never intended as a reflection on the acts of one who has distinguished himself as an able and energetic presiding officer at all times, and if I have unintentionally erred in my report, I gladly make the amende honorable, which is certainly due under the circumstances.

The following business was transacted to-day:

H. B. 101, by Mr. Clymer, an act in relation to the sale of intoxicating liquor, which seems to be a sort of Ohio damage act, and contains nineteen sections, each one stronger than the other. Read twice and referred to the Committee on Education.

102—An act to amend an act relating to the incorporation of Seattle.

103—An act relating to discharging ballast.

104—An act to change the name of Charles Wilson to that of Charles W. Valpey.

105—An act in relation to Justices of the the peace and their terms of office.

106—An act to amend an act in relation to incorporating the town of Olympia.

107—Act amending an act in relation to incorporating town of Vancouver.

108—Act amending an act in relation to county commissioners.

109—Act for relief of James Seavey and others.

110—Substitute for an act in relation to costs and fees.

111—Act for the relief of J. H. Munson.

112—Relating to elections.

The Bill relative to declaring all sloughs and sloughs as public highways, was vetoed by the Governor as unconstitutional and the veto was sustained.

113—Act for the relief of the Sheriff of Walla Walla county.

The House then adjourned to 2 P. M., at which time I was unable to be present.

After service last Sunday evening in the Episcopal Church at Olympia, at the request of Rev. P. E. Hyland, Col. E. C. Kemble, Inspector of Indian Affairs, addressed the congregation on the subject of "Indian Missions." This gentleman is thoroughly conversant with the subject, and, although [illegible] on but short notice, he managed to keep his [illegible] as completely interested for nearly one hour, detailing various incidents regarding the humane policy inaugurated by the Government. If this gentleman should [illegible] find it convenient to speak on the subject, he will be listened to with pleasure.

The Walla Walla Union has just received news from the new mines on the Yakima that from the dirt that two men threw into the sluices in two days, $200 were taken out. This is from a perfectly reliable gentlemen just in from the mines who was present at the time.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOV. 5, 1873.

A NEW THEORY OF HONESTY.

Probably the lyceum audiences and church-going people of the Eastern States have become thoroughly inoculated to Beecherism, so that anything coming from the lips of the remarkable orator of Plymouth Church, no matter how defiantly it may bump against ancient notions of orthodoxy is accepted as the inspiration of [illegible]. Now, no one will complain of this. [illegible] will any one find fault with those [illegible] believe in the spangled, red-light doc[illegible] of Talmage, some of whose sermons [illegible] the unmistakable inspiration of the [illegible]. Men must have a credo and [illegible]. That teacher must be "popu[illegible]" as we phrase it nowadays, and so, [illegible] these two things, a third is apparent: [illegible] in time men will look to the teacher for the credo. Sir Charles Dilke says of [illegible] Bradlaugh, the famous English [illegible], that "he does the thinking for [illegible] minds than any other man in Eng[illegible]." Henry Ward Beecher is very much of a Bradlaugh in the pulpit—barring the [illegible] disbelief of the Englishman. He [illegible], and to thousands his [illegible] have all the binding force [illegible] canon or papal bull.

[illegible] all [illegible] things we are not sure [illegible] be prudent to question the [illegible] of Mr. Beecher's latest dogma. [illegible] it tersely embodied in these sen[illegible] from a lecture on "Manhood [illegible]," delivered, recently, by the [illegible] in New York city:

[illegible] is not a [illegible] virtue; man must [illegible]. It is after a man has looked at [illegible] he has been put to the proof. [illegible] There is not a farmer [illegible] that is as honest as the men in [illegible]? Because these men are [illegible] old farmer is as good as men [illegible] probably break down at the [illegible] I asked a friend not [illegible] giving me a sad story of [illegible] of the different mem[illegible] in the Legislature how it was [illegible] your soul," said he, [illegible] stuff we buy in the Leg[illegible] I am not in for election [illegible], I am not obliged to [illegible] and sinew of the coun[illegible] No, the men under [illegible] by, and there [illegible] New-Yorker is the [illegible]

[illegible] that "honesty is not a [illegible] it occurs to us that if [illegible] among the acquirements [illegible] gentleman, Mr. Beech[illegible] of true manhood will re[illegible] who co[illegible] of his chimney first. It [illegible] received notion that [illegible] the elements of good [illegible] is the solid substratum [illegible] and best type of [illegible]. The storms [illegible] may beat against [illegible] but it stands sure. Not [illegible] for character is [illegible] of good, and it [illegible] and the rains [illegible] his [illegible] of his [illegible] critical hour he digs [illegible] for his [illegible] that [illegible] would be rather peril[illegible]. We think the [illegible] which grows with [illegible] with the [illegible]; the honesty [illegible] the mother's knee, in [illegible] the [illegible] experi[illegible] the [illegible] suffer the [illegible] on the Beecher [illegible] to [illegible] circ[illegible] in temptation [illegible] integrity which [illegible] out as a buckler at the [illegible] of temptation, he may [illegible] that the tardy lesson [illegible] it be learned at all) in [illegible] not in the counting[illegible] his honesty must be ac[illegible] risk of bank vaults [illegible] of depositors.

[illegible] between the flint[illegible] Wall street and the Long [illegible] Mr. Beecher may be cor[illegible] the [illegible] for the Long [illegible] But if he presents his [illegible] as a type of [illegible] United States, we think he [illegible]. And when he refers [illegible] Legislature, we are re[illegible] Woodin, Winslow, James [illegible] Madden, Bowen, Lord, [illegible] and others, all Senators [illegible] have been impeached. [illegible] Of the three former, al[illegible] Republicans, the Troy [illegible] sheet of the strictest [illegible] "We sincerely trust [illegible] de[illegible]d. The Republi[illegible] any such nonsense [illegible] these men." And we [illegible] that Orange Winans, [illegible] was a farmer. At the [illegible] the board of farmers who [illegible] of lard with thin coat[illegible] or put heavy stones in the [illegible] of the butter roll to make weight. [illegible] average" were struck, we [illegible] bet, blindfolded, on the Long [illegible]. Of course Mr. Beecher's [illegible] of honesty was received with [illegible] by the dwellers in brown stone [illegible]. We wonder would he talk so in [illegible] districts.

[illegible] IDOL KNOCKED DOWN.

[illegible] Bulletin says Prosecuting Attorney [illegible] is "a pet of the OREGONIAN." [illegible] suppose we must admit it. Then [illegible] pet, of whom we have [illegible]. Which his name it is Franklin, [illegible]. Now, Franklin was on trial in the Circuit Court for illegal voting, a few days since. By dint of some hard [illegible]ing on the part of the defense, and by other dark ways and tricks, he escaped conviction, although this whole community was satisfied of his guilt. Immediately on his release the Bulletin com[illegible] a series of eulogies that sounded [illegible] like obituaries on the King of Da[illegible] than anything else. The gentleman [illegible] a few years ago, was cursing "the [illegible] nigger" as the cause of all his [illegible] during the war, who spat on the [illegible] and preached through his paper the [illegible] doctrine that the sys[illegible] of slavery was a divine institution, [illegible] man had a right to buy and sell [illegible]—this gentleman was loud [illegible] of the negro repeater. [illegible] had been so long inhibited from political rights and equality before the law, a race against which the prejudice of a large body of the white people have held, and in some instances do yet hold, a deep and and unworthy prejudice."

We know the warm-hearted people of Portland will sympathize with the repeaters' organ when they are told that this "lowly colored citizen" was arrested night before last for stealing $25 from a house of ill-fame. Won't the Bulletin regale us with another two column article on the virtues of this "lowly colored citizen?" And won't it give us another jeremiad on the City Attorney for "picking Franklin as a victim of immolation" to the law of larceny? Ah! We had forgotten: Mr. Mulkey hasn't appeared in his usual place as City Attorney since the awkward little episode of October 13th set him to studying Wayland, on Personal Liberty. We presume he is indisposed. But about Franklin, the "lowly colored citizen"—tell us about him, Mr. Bulletin.

The Common Council of New London, Conn., appreciating the vigorous administration of the new Mayor of that city, recently voted him a salary of $500. This aroused the indignation of that class which is to be found in every community: who believe that city officers should serve for glory entirely. So their noisy clamor called forth a letter from Mayor Waller, in which he says he believes that he deserves a fair salary, and that the sum named—$500—is not a fair remuneration for his labors. He concludes in the following sensible and spicy language: "I will not resign in any event, until all wholesome police and sanitary regulations are fully, fairly and impartially executed within the limits of our city. I will act as Mayor to accomplish said purpose, with salary if I can get it, without it if I cannot, and, if need be, I will pay a salary for the sake of being Mayor, until I have, by faithful performance of duty, gained the favor of good citizens and the enmity of bad ones."

We have received from the publishers, Scribner & Co., the first number of their new illustrated magazine for girls and boys—St. Nicholas. It is by all odds the handsomest children's magazine in America—and the world, for that matter. The same superb taste which adorns Scribner's, with elegant illustrations, is manifest in the children's magazine. Among the contributors we notice the familiar names of Noah Brooks, William Cullen Bryant, Rebecca Harding Davis, Celia Thaxter and Lucretia P. Hale. Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge is the Editress, and she introduces herself to the young folks in a charming little editorial which is sure to win friends for the magazine. The publishers deserve to succeed in their "effort to introduce a fresh and healthful element into the juvenile literature of America." That literature needs pruning badly. Good luck to the St. Nicholas.

One of the most ridiculous blunders we have ever seen, is that made by the National Republican, a leading journal in Washington City, when, in speaking of the Senate Transportation Committee, it mentions "Hon. William Windom of Maine. We had always supposed that Windom "originated," senatorially, in Minnesota, although we remember seeing him spoken of by an exchange, a little time back, as "the Senator from the Northern Pacific."

A Washington dispatch of October 24th says that President Johnson has now in the hands of the printer the manuscript of his version of the Surratt case, thought by him to be necessary to be given to the public in view of the recent publication of Judge Holt on that subject. It is to be issued in pamphlet form, and will be liberally distributed. This, no doubt, accounts for the absence of any allusion to the subject in his two-hours' oration last night.

The Chicago Times says of Andy Johnson's address to the Islanders: "Ex-President Johnson's speech at Washington, on Thursday evening, was a very impressive affair. It must have impressed everybody in the country with a profound sense of mortification that such a backwoods slang-whanger could ever have been President of the United States. Wilkes Booth's crime wasn't half appreciated when he was shot down by the asinine Corbett."

We notice that the News has taken the Democratic platform out of its columns. Up to last week it was published regularly on the third page. The Statesman, which has been publishing the Mitchell resolution on the editorial page in place of a leader half the time, has dropped it, and now it publishes the Thanksgiving proclamation in its place.

We notice in the Philadelphia Ledger this fresh and sparkling bit of news under the head, "Personal": "Aurius Manlius Severinus Bœthius, a celebrated Latin philosopher, was beheaded by King Theodoric thirteen hundred and forty-eight years ago yesterday."

Official returns from Grant county give Mr. Nesmith a majority of 41 over Mr. Smith. There were 305 votes polled. In the same county last year Wilson received 305 votes and Burnett 309. Nesmith's majority in the State as far as heard from is 2,081.

LETTER FROM SALEM

INDUSTRIES OF THE CAPITAL CITY—WORK ON THE CAPITOL—LABORS OF THE STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION—INTERESTING AND VALUABLE STATISTICS—TABULAR STATEMENT OF PROPERTY OF VARIOUS CORPORATIONS, ETC.

[FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.]

SALEM, Nov. 2, 1873.

The weather for the past week has been very capricious, varying from foggy and cold in the morning to sunshine in the afternoon.

The farmers are now very busy hauling in their wheat, potatoes, apples, etc., for which they receive good prices. The former article is mostly sold to

R. C. KINNEY & CO.,

Who are storing it away in every house that can be procured conveniently, while the mill is running at its fullest capacity. The company have put in three new burrs for flour and one for chops. I am told it has more burrs than any mill in the State. They now grind four hundred and fifty barrels per day.

All work has been suspended on the

STATE CAPITOL BUILDING,

And the Commissioners have adjourned until sometime in February next. The convicts are now grading around the building and cutting the drains as designed by the architect, and it is expected that by spring the drains will be finished. It is the intention of the architect that the drainage shall be perfect. The Commissioners have now on hand 750,000 brick with which to commence active operations next spring. The Commissioners expect next year to erect three of the wings and have the roof on by the time the winter rains commence.

THE STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION

Have very nearly completed their work. Most of the labor has fallen upon ex-Gov. Geo. L. Curry, and the Board's efficient clerk, Mr. J. Walton. Dr. W. F. Alexander, the member from Linn county, is now, and has for some time, been dangerously ill, while Col. N. H. Gates, of Wasco county, has been repeatedly called away.

You will observe by the accompanying tables that the Western Union Telegraph Company have been taxed in all the counties through which the line extends. I am informed that this year, for the first time, they have been required to pay in all the counties; also several of the different wagon roads, in aid of which Congress has liberally donated land. The railroad assessment has been considerably changed. In some cases a considerable reduction has been made.

THE EUROPEAN AND OREGON LAND COMPANY

Did not fare as well. But I have every reason to believe that the gentlemen who composed this Board have endeavored to be impartial in every case.

Exhibit "A" is a table that contains valuable information, which I hope will prove full of interest to your readers:

Exhibit "A."

Table of acreage, average value per acre, and gross value of land, exclusive of grants to corporations, in each county of the State of Oregon, as shown by the assessment rolls of 1873; and per cent. of increase after correction by the State Board of Equalization:

NOTE.—The following are the names of the wagon road companies referred to in the above table: Yaquina Bay, Coos Bay, Oregon and Cascade Mountains, Willamette Valley and Cascade Mountains, Dalles Military.

The city of Salem is to have a

CITY DIRECTORY,

Which will be issued about January 1st, 1874. It is the intention of the proprietors, Messrs. Waite & Keady, to make it a very complete work. It will contain information that will make it a desirable work to send abroad, and a good medium for advertisers.

All of the different branches of industry are now busily engaged in manufacturing articles that trade demands. Among the most enterprising is the Capital Lumbering Company, who are manufacturing plows and cultivators; also Mr. E. Ellison, who cannot supply the demand for his first premium Buckeye plows—both hand and gang.

WEDNESDAY MORNING NOV 5 1873

CITY.

STILL NO ELECTION.—Still the Board of Trustees of East Portland are unable to decide who shall be elected for that municipality as City Marshal and Street Commissioner. The Charter provides that the Marshal, Attorney, Surveyor and Street Commissioner shall be elected at the last meeting of the Board in October and that the officers so elected are to enter upon their respective duties on the first of November. Two weeks ago the Board started in to hold such an election. Without the least difficulty they elected the Attorney and Surveyor on the first ballot. But when the City Dads came to settle the matter of Marshal and Commissioner they found that that was a question concerning which honest men could conscientiously differ. Long and faithfully did they ballot. Each particular member of the Board had his own choice and stubbornly persisted in voting just as he pleased. At length the contest narrowed down to two candidates. Six votes were cast, four being the electing majority. Ballot after ballot was cast, the vote standing three to three. When that became a little monotonous, one member would go for Mr Blank who is recognized as a general scapegoat at hotly contested elections. Wearied out with such fruitless proceedings the Board adjourned until last Monday evening. After disposing of the regular business the as yet unsettled issue was again taken up. Evidently the question at variance had been thoroughly canvassed, and the contest proved more spirited than the previous one. Twenty two ballots were cast for Marshal and seven for Street Commissioner with no prospects of electing any of the candidates, when the matter was again deferred for two weeks. A little lively game of "freeze out" is being played by the respective sides as no concessions have been made, or compromise effected by either side. Meantime the present incumbents continue to hold the offices and draw the regular stipends.

INDICTMENT DISMISSED.—On motion of the District Attorney the indictment found by the Grand Jury against Jas R Farrish, charging him with the crime of forgery, has been dismissed. Two trials were held in this case, resulting in each instance in the disagreement of the jury. In the opinion of the District Attorney no conviction of the defendant could be procured and he therefore made the motion that the indictment be dismissed by the Court, which was done. The further disposition of the defendant in the cause has been taken under advisement by the Court. In the minds of the jury were grave doubts touching the sanity or insanity of Mr Farrish, which led in each instance to irreconcilable differences of opinion. The sole defense was predicated on the plea of insanity and consequent unaccountability of the defendant. There being some doubts in the mind of the Court as to jurisdiction touching the further disposal of the defendant's person, the matter will be the subject of investigation. Whether Mr Farrish is to be released or remanded to the Insane Asylum, must remain a matter of conjecture for the present.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.—One of those miraculous escapes from instantaneous death of which we occasionally read, occurred yesterday afternoon, near the corner of A and Third streets. A small boy was trundling a baby carriage across the street at that point, in which was seated a little child about two years old, when a grocery wagon belonging to the firm of Kyle & Wagner, came dashing around the corner at a furious rate. The driver perceived the danger of the position at one glance, but before he could check the speed of his horse, the wheels of the vehicle collided with the carriage, smashing it all to pieces, and throwing the occupant several yards out. Carriage and child all fell in a heap, and, singular as it may seem, baby did not sustain injuries worthy of mention. Why the helpless little creature was not crushed instantly to death, seems but little short of a miracle. It is an instance of providential interposition, for which the parents and driver ought to feel specially grateful. Slower and more cautious driving is what Portland teamsters ought to be compelled to observe.

BOAT BUILDING POSTPONED.—The construction of a large and powerful steamer, to be [illegible] expressly for freightage and towage purposes, was held in contemplation by the O S N Co during the first of the present year. However, the purchase of the Annie Stewart and the building of the new elegant steamer Daisy Ainsworth, thereby adding two large, available boats to those already owned by the Company, induced them to defer until later in the season the construction of another craft for the purposes above indicated. At one time a portion of the lumber for the new boat was ordered and sawed, but was subsequently used for another purpose. The present season has so far advanced that before such a boat could be built and put in running condition the wheat shipment would be over. So we learn that the project has been abandoned until next season. Next spring it is quite probable that the Company will begin building a large boat. It will be capacious enough to carry about 500 tons and have sufficient power to tow several ships at one time against wind and tide.

TOMBSTONE FINISHED.—Mr Wm Young, who has been engaged for months past in putting up a large and elegant obelisk that is to mark the last resting place of the late Major Simeon Francis, completed the work on Monday, and forwarded it at once to its destination. The tombstone was finished in sections. It is now being put together in Vancouver cemetery, above the remains of the late honored soldier and respected citizen. The obelisk is one of the largest and most imposing specimens of elaborate sculpture that has yet been turned out of any marble shop in the State. It is composed of enduring granite and the finest quality of Italian marble, and is nearly twelve feet high from the base to the cap, constituting the apex of the column.

VESSELS IN THE RIVER.—By the Astoria packet we learn that the following vessels are now in the river. The Norwegian bark Electra, in ballast from San Francisco under charter to carry away a cargo of wheat; the American bark Marana, also in ballast to carry hence a cargo of grain; the schooner Levett Peacock with an assorted cargo from San Francisco. These vessels came over the bar on Monday. The Electra and Marana were both taken in tow by the Dora Thompson yesterday afternoon and may be anticipated here early this morning.

COMPUTING TAXES.—Deputy County Clerk James A Waters is engaged eight hours each day in computing the taxes of each property holder in the county taken from the assessment rolls. The carrying out of the results under the appropriate headings involves an immense amount of labor, besides the most accurate, careful and painstaking mathematical computation. Not more than one fourth of the arduous task has been completed, but the tax roll will be finished by the time that the law requires it to be placed in the hands of the Sheriff.

BARK "PORTLAND."—This new vessel which was built the present season at Coos Bay expressly to ply on the San Francisco and Portland route, arrived here from the former port yesterday morning. She brings an assorted cargo of about 400 tons. The Portland is the third sailing vessel which has been built at Coos Bay, and the largest and best by all odds. This vessel is larger than either the Gem or Webfoot, and the general finish and appointments of her are superior. Well [illegible] city [illegible] handsome [illegible].

AUSTRALIAN GRANITE.—The [illegible] ship Fortuna [illegible] blocks of granite taken on board at Melbourne [illegible] is now being discharged on [illegible] wharf and then carted away and piled up [illegible] will [illegible] for building purposes. It is [illegible] dimensions [illegible] but [illegible] good purpose in building walls, foundations, etc. The rock is known as the fine Australian granite, and will resist the [illegible] ments as long as time shall endure.

FOR FIRST ASSISTANT.—A regular meeting was held last evening by Vigilance Hook and Ladder Co No 1, at which Mr A G Murray, the present Foreman of that Company, was unanimously nominated for the office of First Assistant Engineer, subject to the votes of his fellow firemen at the coming election in December. The company did not indorse or place in nomination any one for Chief Engineer, preferring to leave the members free to vote for [illegible] they might see proper.

VAUGHN'S OLD GRIST MILL.—We observed yesterday a large force of carpenters at work on the brick building formerly used as a grist mill by G W Vaughn. A large rent in the southern wall caused by the fire has been repaired. New joists, timbers, etc have also been laid on the interior of the building. Soon the roof will be placed on and the windows and doors added. As yet Mr Vaughn is undecided as to what purpose he will use the building. The machinery, burrs, etc have been removed from the building, as the proprietor determined soon after the fire never to replace the ruined machinery and use it again as a flouring mill. We learn that the building will probably be used either as a foundry or a large planing mill.

STEAMER ARRIVED.—The Ajax reached port last evening about 9 o clock with numerous passengers and a large freight. The steamer crossed the bar and arrived at Astoria on Monday evening at 10 o clock. Tide and the low stage of water being unfavorable the steamer did not attempt to come up the river but remained there until yesterday forenoon. Meantime the Astoria packet which started for Portland at an early hour took on board the express and a few gentlemen who came up on the Ajax. By this arrangement the express arrived here several hours before the ocean steamer, which was a matter of some surprise to those who were in receipt of letters prior to the arrival of the Ajax.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.—A man named R Powell was arraigned yesterday morning in the Police Court on a charge of assault and battery. Powell entered the New York Hotel on Monday evening in an intoxicated condition and without the least apparent provocation assaulted Mr Wilkens, one of the proprietors. Just at that moment Mrs Wilkens appeared on the scene of action, which Powell no sooner perceived than he began a furious assault on her. The Court sent him to the county jail for thirty five days for his trouble.

BODY NOT RECOVERED.—Diligent search was made at the time the deserting sailor leaped overboard from the John I Stephens at the mouth of the Wallamet and was drowned for the body of the unfortunate fellow. No traces could be discovered of its presence nor has anything been subsequently seen. At the spot where he sank from sight a large number of willow bushes are growing along the bottom of the stream, and it is thought that in his dying struggles the sailor grasped some of the branches and that the body is still clinging there.

KNEES UP.—Yesterday we paid a visit to the new steamer which is being built by the Willamette River Transportation Company above the upper sawmill and found the work moving forward at an encouraging rate. The timbers for the hull are all up. In a few days the floor for the deck will be placed down and the plank for the hull be spiked on. The contract calls for the completion of the new craft by the first of January. Judging from present appearances the boat will be ready for service by or before that time.

OLD LINE TORN DOWN.—Two men were engaged yesterday in tearing down the old telegraph line which was used for many years and until within a few days ago. Since the Company have moved to their new and elegant quarters at the corner of A and First streets, the old line has been abandoned and the new line brought into requisition. The wires which have borne to and fro for years thousands of messages, have been removed and the poles stripped bare. Even the pole will be taken away in a few days.

S S CONCERT.—The pupils of the Hall Street Sunday School will give a concert at that church this evening, commencing at 7 o clock. The concert will consist of musical and literary exercises, and promises to be of an interesting and edifying character. Immediately at the close of the concert, a social reunion is to be held in the church, to which all present are cordially invited to attend and participate. Admission to the concert 25 cents.

TEDIOUS WORK.—The work of hoisting out the ponderous machinery and tackling of Capt. Thompson's steam plow from the hold of the bark Vesta proves to be both a difficult and tedious task. For several days the work has gone forward, and still much of the heavy machinery remains to be elevated to the dock. The separate portions of the plow are hoisted by means of the anchor capstan and a system of tackling.

THE LATE CHARLES BARRETT.—In the notices which appeared in the daily press of the city, relative to the death of the late Charles Barrett, Sr, several inaccuracies were made which we correct. The deceased leaves a daughter and three sons and a former wife from whom he was divorced. He was aged 59 years and was a native of Peter Church, Herefordshire, his father being rector of that parish for many years.

THE FRANKLIN CASE.—One D B Franklin (the same fellow who was indicted for illegal voting) was arrested late on Monday night on a charge of larceny. He was accused of having entered a house on Third street and purloining therefrom the sum of $35 20. Yesterday afternoon Franklin was arraigned in the Police Court, but the case, after a partial hearing, was continued until this morning.

SERIOUSLY HURT.—Aaron Fikeles, a boy aged 17 years, was thrown violently out of an express wagon yesterday forenoon and sustained severe injuries. No bones are broken but the back and shoulders are badly bruised. His injuries are not regarded as dangerous although of a serious character. The boy has been confined to his bed since the accident.

CHIEF ENGINEER NOMINATED.—At the regular monthly meeting held last evening by Columbian Engine Co No 3 Mr Wm O Brien, the present Chief Engineer of the Portland Fire Department, was unanimously nominated for re-election at the coming firemen's election next month.

FAREWELL.—This is the title of a new piece of music just placed on our table by Mr G L DePrans. The words are written by Alfred Tennyson and the music composed by Mr Edward J Finck. It is a perfect musical gem.

THE WEATHER.—From the Signal Service office we learn that the state of the weather yesterday was as follows: Thermometer stood at 7 o clock A M 44° at 2 P M [illegible]° at 9 P M 44°. Weather cloudy.

CHANGE OF TIME.—From and after date the Monticello boat will leave the O S N Co's wharf at 7 o clock A M. Heretofore the boat has left here at 8 o clock.

HOURS OF PLEASURE.

PROGRESS CLUB SOIREE.

The first of a series of elegant social gatherings was held last evening, at the rooms of the Progress Club. This ball was given in honor of Mr Isam White, one of the incorporators of the organization, which has gained considerable note for the elaborate style of its receptions. The events we are about to refer to have been talked of since the first opening of the spacious rooms of this club, which has increased its membership to over one hundred and ten persons. This hall has been in existence little over three months, and [illegible] the large membership [illegible] that the conveniences and opportunities [illegible] are unlimited. This one being the first, it was deemed best to confine the invitations to its own members, as preparations for friends of members were not so extended as would admit the invitations to a very large assembly. As the season progresses the idea of extending the privileges [illegible] this character beyond the membership will be considered fully and in [illegible] an opportunity [illegible] part in the social events transpiring at the rooms of the Club will have a share of such enjoyments. From early eve till a late hour equipages laden with the youth, beauty and fashion of the city rolled up before the Alder street entrance leading to the spacious rooms on the floors above, where the Reception Committee were in waiting. This committee consisted of Dr J A Chapman, Col R N Batchelder, Leon H Lewis, T A Davis and Chas Kahn. The guests were escorted through the halls to the reception rooms, where the ladies were permitted to adjust their apparel while the gentlemen doffed their heavier clothing in an adjoining apartment. The rooms were cleared of the paraphernalia of the Club, admitting of more room for the guests. The floor of a portion of the billiard room was covered with white crash in anticipation of a large attendance, and they were not wanting time in making this additional preparation for the accommodation of devotees of the art terpsichore. The piano was transferred from this room to the gallery, where it added materially to the musical department. The elegant chandeliers with their hundred gas jets shedding a flood of light over the rooms presented a most charming aspect. At ten o clock the band of seven musicians, led by Mr Chas Bray, struck up the Grand March written expressly for the occasion, at which moment the large assembly entered the ball room and marched to the soul inspiring strains of the orchestra until the Floor Committee gave orders to form the quadrille. From the quadrille the dance changed to the waltz, then the varsouvienne, lanciers, polka, and the many dances in the first part of the programme till the hour of twelve had arrived, when the now more than pleased assembly adjourned to the dining hall. The two tables extended almost the entire length of the room and connecting at the farthest end. These tables were loaded down with every delicacy that it seemed possible for Messrs Alisky & Hegele the caterers to provide. These gentlemen, assisted by Mr Gilbert, steward of the Club, presided over affairs, and those who sat down to the elegant repast retired fully satisfied with the elegance of the supper. Returning to the hall the assembly partook once more of the dance and whiled away the "wee sma' hours" most enjoyably, we should judge, from the manner of each and every one. The town clock had pealed the hour of three ere the last of those who had during the evening spent a most pleasant time, returned from the scene of pleasure.

The duties of the floor managers were well attended to. How they succeeded was fully attested by all present. The gentlemen composing the committee were Messrs E H C Taylor, Samuel Lowenstein, Isaac Blum and Emil Frank. Of the toilets we will not speak at length. Suffice it to say they ranked under the term of elegant. Among the ladies we observed Mesdames R Jacobs, M Koshland, J A Chapman, Major Eggleston, Levi White, Henry Ahpel, Isaac Burman, M T Cunningham, Moses Seller, J Fleishner, H L Pittock, J Jacobs, A D Ellis, T G Young, Capt. Boyle; Misses Flora Brooks, C F Bachelder, Jennie Bachman, Clara Newburger, Alice Ackerman, Melna Ballock, Laura May, Ina Ford, Lizzie Freedman, Clara Meyers, Jennie Davis and Abbie Atwood.

The gentlemen were Gen Jeff C Davis, Judge M P Deady, Warren Leland, Capt Boyle, Hon H H Gilfry, L Goldsmith, Levi White, Day Walters, Chas Rosenbaum, G Krumbein, Sol Rosenfeld, W H Harris, Moses Seller, M T Cunningham, M Koshland, R Jacobs, S Ackerman, Alex Mayer, H L Pittock, Joseph Bachman, Sol Froman, Henry Ackerman, Isam White, G A Crone, Chas Hirstel, Chas Lancaster, Abe Reiss, S W Raveley, M D Wendenfeld, Jacob Kahn, Carl Bosco, J D Scharf, Henry Rosenfeld, Adolphe Bachman, F A Thompson, J D DuBois and others.

MARY AND I.

'Twas evening in May and the soft zephyr sighed
Through branches low bending above
My Mary and I as we wandered along
And whisper'd of beauty and love.
"We'll make us a nest like the birdlings," I said
"And never shall part any more."
"Oh yes," she replied, "and can furnish it nice,
At HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE."

Fair creature, there's many a wealthier man
Would gladly have you for a bride
But no one can love you more fondly than I—
My treasure, my beauty and pride!
Oh had I a mansion with carpets of gold
And silver I'd cover the floor.
But smiling, she said: "You can purchase the best
At HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE."

"I'll spread you a couch upon which to recline
When evening shall call you to rest
Of the finest in town"—but she said with a sigh
"I like a hair mattress the best."
[illegible]
[illegible] something [illegible]
Oh! [illegible] she [illegible] They have elegant sets
At HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE."

But Mary alas! I must sadly confess
My means are but slender as yet
To furnish a house in the style you demand
Would hopelessly plunge me in debt—
To ask you to share my poor lodgings and board
Is something that I should deplore.
She said with a smile: "You can buy very cheap
At HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE."

To morrow then love let us journey along

THE NAUGHTY GIRLS

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN.

This weather beaten manuscript was found on the top of Bald Butte three miles east from Portland. Supposed to have been dropped by a wandering hunter or poet. The finder now having seen it in print thinks it worth printing and so hands it in for your paper. FINDER.

We trust you while you use us,
If we tell how you abuse us
And how sadly you misuse us
Oh! you naughty naughty girls

You may say how oft we grieve you
How we flatter and deceive you
How we win and then leave you
Oh you naughty naughty girls

For to these you are delighted
And rejoice to see us all [illegible]
[illegible] when your vows are plighted
Oh! you naughty naughty girls

With bewitching smiles you cheat us
Look so sweet when [illegible] meet us
O, how wickedly you treat us
You naughty naughty girls

Yes, you'll seek for our attention
And when love we gently mention
We find you've no intention
To be caught you naughty girls

You hope we will excuse you,
But it really does amuse you,
To think that we should choose you
Oh! you naughty naughty girls

Yes, we find it is your pleasure
To torment us without measure
And relieve us at your leisure
Oh! you naughty naughty girls

But in spite of your coquetting
Though you cause us pain and fretting
You are doubly worth the getting
Oh! you naughty naughty girls. I. G.

ANECDOTES OF PUBLIC WORTHIES

GEORGE WASHINGTON. One day, in a fit of [illegible] the juvenile George cut down [illegible] favorite cherry tree with a hatchet [illegible] was to cut—and run.

But the old gentleman came sailing round the corner of the barn just as the future [illegible] of his Country had started on the [illegible]

"Look here, sonny," thundered the stern old [illegible], "who cut that tree down?"

Just as Washington turned to go in and get his horsewhip, [illegible] had burst into tears, and, nestling [illegible] his father's coat-tails, exclaimed, "I can not tell a lie. It must have [illegible]"

"[illegible] son," stammered the fond [illegible] as he made a pass for his offspring [illegible] you get to be first in war and first in [illegible] over your back-pay into the [illegible], and the newspaper press will respect [illegible]

The President, who [illegible] himself by splitting portions of the White House into rails [illegible] cordially. They stated their [illegible] but respectful tone, and [illegible] his answer Mr Lincoln [illegible] up to his full height, and [illegible] man of the party on the [illegible] to tell a story about a dog [illegible] in Kentucky [illegible] by it had gradually grown dark [illegible] had passed away, and neither [illegible] to get killed or to gain any ad[illegible] the other. [illegible] The following anecdote [illegible] chusetts statesman has never [illegible] in print.

[illegible] EX-LOVE AND HER VICTIM

[illegible] to the St. Louis Republican.] [illegible] good many years ago now since a [illegible] formed an alliance (not [illegible]) with a young woman, we [illegible] Zelia. She was a quiet[illegible] but possessed of the instincts [illegible] After a while the young gentle[illegible] of her, and went off West and [illegible] brought his wife home, and dur[illegible] she was attacked on Broad[illegible] Zelia, and forced to fly into the [illegible] Hotel and call on those in the [illegible] protection. The festive Zelia car[illegible] with such a high hand that her [illegible] was forced to resort to strategy [illegible] He got a friend to take her tem[illegible] off his hands. What came to pass [illegible] great deal like what happened to [illegible] when he went to the rescue of [illegible] Cuttle. At any rate, the [illegible] friend of the negro minstrel fared [illegible]. Time wore on and cemented the [illegible]. The [illegible] friend was a married [illegible] with grown up children. He had a very [illegible] of it all round. But some way he [illegible] and pulled through till the year 1873 [illegible] rupture took place between the [illegible] and the negro minstrel's friend [illegible] interview took place some [illegible] and after a stormy interchange of [illegible] the woman seized a bottle of ammonia [illegible] and threw it into the unfortunate [illegible]. From that day to this there are [illegible] to describe the sufferings of the [illegible] victim. He is disfigured for ever [illegible] his sight almost entirely gone. He is [illegible] killed. An unwise fear of pub[illegible] has thus far protected the [illegible] woman. The man is settling his af[illegible] his property and is about to [illegible] of his life and looks to some [illegible] where no recollection of what he once was [illegible] him conspicuous in his present [illegible].

THE NEW MASONIC TEMPLE IN PHILADELPHIA.—The new masonic temple on the corner of Broad and Filbert streets Philadelphia, which was recently dedicated is claimed to be one of the finest specimens of architectural skill and art in the country. The cost of the structure is $1 300 000 and it has [illegible] nearly five years in building. It is built [illegible] of granite outside with brick backing, walls, and arches, which are very thick and [illegible]. The building is three lofty stories and a [illegible] in height. The main entrance on Broad street is modelled after the doorway of St. Mark's church in Venice with the ex[illegible] of the figures, which are symbols of the order. The Norman and Gothic styles of [illegible] prevail on the first and second [illegible] and Corinthian throughout the rest of the edifice. The meeting room of the grand [illegible] is the representative apartment of the [illegible], and the largest one in it. From an [illegible] vestibule of the western end the [illegible] enters through massive doors, artistically constructed of walnut with cedar sinkings and raised panels, made of mottled walnut imported from France. The work is highly [illegible], and these panels present the appearance of marble. The furniture of the hall is of walnut and cedar covered with blue plush. Everywhere Masonic emblems meet the eye carved in wood or stone, or shining from stained glass windows and handsomely cut globes. The next larger room is the Grand Chapter Hall, then follow the Egyptian Hall the Ionic, the Normal the Oriental and numerous other halls for large meetings. The library room is situated on the second floor and is intended for use as well as ornament and will be the repository of a complete Masonic library, if the plans of the grand lodge can be successfully carried out.

A jury of freemen in Concord Mass, recently [illegible] to give one Palmer $40,000 damages for newspaper property destroyed by a mob in August, 1861. Quite a contrast between that [illegible] jury and the California Legislature of 1871.

[illegible] [illegible] of the [illegible] year [illegible] experienced [illegible]

The question of remonetizing of silver is being discussed at the [illegible] in [illegible] that [illegible] depreciated by the low limitation [illegible] legal tender. The extension of this limit [illegible] evident would [illegible] exchange [illegible] value to make it par or nearly [illegible] with gold. We learn from the [illegible] Garnett Manager of the San Francisco [illegible] and Assaying Works has addressed a communication to Dr Linderman superintendent of the Mint in which he suggested a method for remonetizing silver. He proposes that silver coins of a specific value slightly above that which is placed upon it in the world's markets should be issued and should be a legal tender for any amount concurrent with gold. To prevent such coins from being converted into manufactured articles to give them a value above silver as a commodity and to act as an obstacle against exportation Mr Garnett recommends that they be slightly alloyed with [illegible]. That paper with all respect for gentlemen of Mr Garnett's experience and admitted financial ability regards his scheme simply impracticable. Any law making silver coin whether alloyed with gold or not a legal tender for all debts to any amount concurrent with gold would prove so onerous that its repeal would be compelled at the earliest possible moment.

The International Coinage Conference at Vienna which was held under the patronage of the Arch duke Rainer having pronounced in favor of the adoption, as an international unit of the metrical dollar of 1½ grammes fine gold used in the United States the Imperial Mint is engaged with the coinage of specimens of 7½ grammes.

New Line of Steamers.

It is expected that the new line of British steamships between Sydney and San Francisco will be started by the 1st of January 1874. Captain Hall h American Consul at Sydney, attempted a project of the kind once before but failed to sustain. In this movement however, he is assisted by the Barrons of London and others and his backing is thought to be ample. The following is from the New York Shipping List in relation to this line:

The British Government has withdrawn the proposal for the prolongation of the Suez mail line and now offers to convey the outward Colonial mails to Point de Galle Singapore Australia New Zealand and San Francisco free of cost. Upon the receipt of this offer, the New South Wales Government telegraphed its acceptance and made arrangements whereby an alternative mail service via San Francisco would be secured. This arrangement is a provisional contract for six years for a four weekly service between Sydney and San Francisco via Kandavu (one of the Fiji group) and Honolulu with the option of a branch line between certain designated ports of New Zealand and Kandavu. This service is to be performed in first class vessels at a guaranteed speed of ten knots per hour. The subsidy is £48,000 ($240,000) per annum for the main service and £12,000 ($60,000) in addition for the New Zealand branch should it be required. Provision is also made for a twelve knot service should the Government demand it when the subsidy is to be increased to £80,000 ($400 000) including the branch line. With a ten knot service such as has been proposed, calculations have been made that with no delays at intervening ports the mails can be delivered in Auckland New Zealand twenty three days from San Francisco and allowing sixteen or seventeen days from London to San Francisco will make a total of about forty days altogether from the two most distant points. The quickest time for London mails to reach New Zealand by the Suez route is between fifty and sixty days. The time between London and Sydney by the projected service will be about forty five or forty-six days, thus equalling in speed the Peninsular and Oriental Company's route via Suez, and affording to New South Wales in addition postal connection with the islands of the Pacific, and with the entire North American Continent.

Miscellaneous.

The Boston Shipping List of October 18th has the following in reference to California Wool: "New Fall California comes along slowly and is not received with much favor by manufacturers. The condition of the Wool is poor and very little is likely to command over 25c ₱ lb. Some lots are held at 27@28c ₱ lb, but these prices are above the views of buyers."

The following statistics show that the Leather trade of Philadelphia has attained no little importance. There are 800 tanneries 291 engines and 131 water powers. The bark used yearly amounts to 782 110 cords costing $5 [illegible] 87, the Skins and Sides tanned annually are [illegible] 000 of the former and 1 617 020 of the latter. The Hides tanned are 1 808 760. The capital employed represents $11 800 000 the material used $[illegible] 000 the products amount in value to $[illegible] and the wages to $1 [illegible]

Statistics of the Suez Canal for the first eight months of the last three years:

	1871	1872	1873
Ships	[illegible]	7[illegible]7	[illegible]1
Tonnage	407 8[illegible]	889 1[illegible]	1 [illegible]7 578
Receipts francs	[illegible] 183 007	10 [illegible]	1 [illegible] 200

The foregoing shows considerable improvement in ships, tonnage and receipts.

The receipts of coin at New York from London for the month of October to the 23d amounted to $[illegible] 500 000 with advices of $5 000 000 more on the way. Of the amount received over $5 000 000 had been deposited in the Assay Office for recoinage. Thompson's Bank Note Reporter is of the opinion that we shall receive $40 000 000 in gold coin from England during the fall and winter.

The large shipments of gold coin from San Francisco to New York within the two weeks ending October 28th, are difficult of explanation. The exports of fine silver in the same direction have also been large. The movement by rail for the two weeks were as follows:

Week ending	Gold Coin	Fine Silver
October 21	$517 000	$236 727
October 28	87 482	175 648
Total	$604 482	$412,3[illegible]

We have via Suez and London later Australian advices. The Melbourne Trade Review before us is dated August 12th announcing the arrival hence of the Contrewitch July 19th, with salmon—say 444 bbls and 201 hf bbls—the bulk of which was not of first rate quality and a portion in bad order. A parcel of fair quality and condition was offered at auction August 4th and brought 40s@45s ₱ bbl duty paid—duty 5s per cwt. The same ship carried 1 200 cs of Columbia river salmon each 4 doz cans Hapgood Hume & Co's packing and Cutting & Co's brand. These were in fine order and condition and sold at about 10s ₱ doz duty paid. The market closed firm at 10s with an upward tendency.

Horrible Di[illegible]

Look at [illegible] pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and [illegible] broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until [illegible] closes the scene. Let parents, guardians friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of [illegible] horrible life-destroying maladies [illegible] that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send [illegible] immediately to DR. Seminal Weakne[illegible]

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-[illegible] This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats mono-mania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, [illegible] apply immediately either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

Married Men,

Or those who contemplate marri[illegible], who are [illegible] ing under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the [illegible] responsibility [illegible] nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DR. GIBBON is responsible and will give to [illegible] patient a written instrument, binding h[illegible] self to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.
